BAR TENDER WOULDN'T GIVE BACK THE GOLD

Las Vegas People Have a Specie of Paper Money of Their Own.

A traveling man arriving from Las Vegas last night said that the people of the Meadow City are dealing in paper money exclusively. The money is made right there in Las Vegas.

"I laid a five dollar gold piece on the bar of one of the first class saloons there yesterday," said the Knight of the Road, "and after taking back four oblong pieces of paper and some small change in silver, I picked up one of the pieces of paper and looked at it and as the bartender stood looking at me, I decided that they were trying to hand me some stage money. Each piece of paper has a large $ mark on it and a large figure 1. There were signatures on it besides, and something about Las Vegas banks.

"I explained to the man behind the bar that I wasn't going to be in town but a short time and I didn't want to carry any money like that away with me. I told him he could give me back my gold and that I would pay for the cigar with silver. "Oh, no," he said, "we're not paying out any gold here; nothing but scrip on the local banks. We're afraid that you'll bury this gold and keep it out of circulation. If there is any burying to be done, why we'll do it. So long."

"As it was nearing my train time, I picked up the paper and left."

The Griffiths continue to attract large audiences to the Elks' opera house. Last evening the crowd was as large as usual and the entertainment equally as interesting as on any previous night. The hypnotist last night made six young men, all residents of Albuquerque, do a very spectacular cake walk. Part of them were the garb of women and acted the parts of women and did it very gracefully. Some of them are so modest that they would not be seen by their closest friends dressed in skirts, and there is no doubt but that they were entirely under the mysterious influence of the hypnotist last night.

The young man, who was asleep in the window of M. Mandell's clothing store, was taken to the opera house last night and awakened before the audience. The engagement will continue for the rest of the week. "Little Johnny Jones" comes to the Elks' on Monday night.

COMMERCIAL CLUB DANCE A PLEASANT AFFAIR

The informal dance at the Commercial club last night was one of the most successful society events of the season and was well attended. Those present spoke with especial praise of the dance music furnished by the Grady orchestra. Five musicians comprised the orchestra and their playing was most satisfactory. This year it is the aim of the club to make their informal dances attractive and the outlook promises that they will be the most enjoyable features of the social season. The next dance will be held on Thanksgiving eve and elaborate preparations are being made for that event.

A HALL IS CALLED IN ATHLETICS AT 'VARSITY

Foot Ball Squad Must Give More Time to Studies.

Football fans at the University of New Mexico were given a scare this last week when it was announced that if four or five of the best players on the team did not greatly improve in their studies they would be taken off the varsity eleven.

The players back to their studies were brought before the other members of the varsity eleven and a consultation held. They promised to apply themselves more to their studies and the others offered to help them in whatever way they could.

As a result there is much midnight oil burning in the quarters of the four players who have been told to catch up in their studies or quit playing football.

The varsity eleven was to have met the Indians Saturday afternoon but yesterday the Indians called the game off. The varsity will play a scrub team of students of the university instead.

SHIPPING SHEEP IN BOX CARS

Shippers Lay Awake at Night Scheming How to Get Cans Promised to Others.

The scarcity of stock cars has become so great and the emergency for shipping so expedient that sheep are being shipped from Mardelena, N. M. in box cars. The side doors are being slatted crossways and the end doors left open for ventilation. With the cool weather assisting, some shipments have been delivered to points as far away as Nebraska in good condition.

The quest for cars is keen and the shippers employ all strategy possible to secure them as they arrive. On one instance recently one shipper secured the cars promised by the Santa Fe to another shipper in the cleverest kind of a manner. Getting a tip that some cars were coming, the clever shipper drove his sheep into the loading pens owned by the Santa Fe and refused to move them in any other way but by driving them through the chute, which goes to the cars when they are set to be loaded. There was nothing to be done with this important shipment but set cars and let him load them. The other fellow had to wait until some more cars were promised to him.

BERNALILLO COUNTY DISTRICT COURT

The case of the Territory vs. Chas. K. Newhall, former treasurer and ex-officio collector for Bernalillo county, and his bondsmen, W. M. Flournoy and W. Hensseldin, which case is now on trial, will probably be decided this afternoon. The action is for the recovery of $3,765.20, alleged to have been improperly retained and misappropriated by the first defendant during his term of office.

Damage Suit Next on Docket. The next case to come up for trial in the district court is that of Joseph Schmitt vs. Southwestern Brewery & Ice Co. This is an action to recover $25,000 damages. On January 2, 1906, the plaintiff while in the regular performance of his duties as an employee of the Southwestern Brewery was, it is alleged, badly scalded and burned by reason of certain defective machinery in the saddows and sustained such injury as will permanently disfigure him and incapacitate him for steady labor. Neill B. Field is the attorney for the plaintiff and Marron and Childers will appear for the defendants.

ANOTHER DEATH IN THE VRZAL FAMILY

Victim Was Husband of Woman Whose Testimony Secured Conviction of Billik.

Chicago, Nov. 7.—Death again descended suddenly on the Vrzal family, which was all but wiped out through a poisoning plot for which Herman Billik now stands in the shadows of a prison cell.

With peculiar fatality it entered the home of the principal witness for the prosecution against Billik— the few members of the Vrzal family who escaped death in the plot. The victim was William Nieman, husband of the woman whose testimony is credited with having secured Billik's conviction.

Death of Martin Vrzal, one of the first to die in the plot.

SANTA FE BOOSTING FOR THE SOUTH-WEST

Pamphlet Just Issued One of Best Ever Published on New Mexico.

J. M. Connell, general passenger agent for the Santa Fe railway, has caused to be issued from the immigration department of the Santa Fe one of the most praiseworthy folders covering the resources of Arizona and New Mexico ever published. It contains twenty pages of well written and beautifully illustrated matter, giving with much detail the opportunities of the two territories, starting in with Raton and following the Santa Fe, ending at Needles, Cal.

Each city and town along the line is given mention and all the features of interest are pointed out with fair and impartial correctness. It touches on the reclamation work the government has undertaken in New Mexico and Arizona and compares the possibilities here with those accomplished in the valley of the Nile. Pictures of irrigation ditches, with all their picturesque beauty are used with telling effect. The pamphlet shows a picture of a moving machine being drawn through a field of alfalfa on the ranch of S. P. Miller near Las Cruces by an automobile.

There is a fine street scene in Silver City, and a very lifelike picture of a herd of white face cattle grazing on the Maxwell ranch near Las Vegas. Other pictures shown are as follows:

Fruit picking in the Pecos valley, a bird's eye view of Las Vegas, street scene in Phoenix, drying fruit in the Salt River valley, bird's eye view of Prescott, a view of the Grand Canyon, pictures of Flagstaff and Williams, and the Roosevelt dam in Arizona.

Regarding Albuquerque, the Santa Fe's favorite city of the southwest, the pamphlet contains a fine view of Second street looking north taken at Silver Avenue. It also makes reference to the growing importance of the place.

ARMY SUFFERS FROM FAMINE OF CADETS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 7.—The story often told of late of the inadequacy of army pay is repeated with a new variation in the annual report of Col. Hugh L. Scott, superintendent of the military academy. In this case for the first time in the history of the institution, difficulty has been experienced in securing a sufficient number of cadets to fill the ranks of the corps. Col. Scott says that the corps is now 73 below its authorized strength, and the number of resignations from the army include nine of this year's graduates from the academy. Col. Scott says: "In the matter of trained soldiers the output of the military academy cannot with safety be permitted to fall below the rate of consumption of those who have gone before, plus the increased requirements of a growing nation. It is believed that the more lucrative pursuits and greater fields for promotion of private life are diverting young men from the careers of small pay and slow promotion in our country's service."

NOTICE

Referring to the article published in the Morning Journal this morning concerning the proposed Albuquerque brewery, I wish to state that the remarks therein will not affect the establishment of the enterprise or hinder the work of organization. I have credentials which prove that the enterprise will receive the financial backing of Louisville capital and the withdrawal of M. P. Kelly will in no way affect the plans of the company. Persons interested in this proposition are well aware of the sound backing of the company.
